

CatchMe

`CatchMe` available on Kickstarter!

The app-enhanced assistant which follows people for you on the road is now available on Kickstarter.

September 22, 2015

Marseille, FRANCE – After a 102% on Thunderclap, we are pleased to announce the launching of our crowdfunding campaign on the famous platform Kickstarter.

Follow the link: Kickstarter.

Without doubt, it will meet with success!

Our team designed all rewards to bring smile back to contributors, like funny (under)clothes. Stop and relax, CatchMe will make your life easier.

CatchMe needs this campaign in order to cover the app maintenance, servers and marketing costs. But not solely, we strongly believe we can build an awesome app with the help of contributors.

It is not an ordinary GPS app, it is a true driving assistant designed to strengthen the connection between two vehicles.

We talk about “two” vehicles we want to talk about a lot of vehicles.

We talk about “vehicles” we want to talk about people, vehicles, horses...

It is a bridge between vehicles with technologies that allow users to get information from leader vehicle: directions, speed, and distance. While also providing convenient features such as notifications, conference call, backup trip and more. All features allow you to keep your eyes on the road.

CatchMe is easy to describe: It is a social GPS app with dynamic destinations.

As a messenger, CatchMe create a micro-social group during a trip including notifications to serve as a warning of danger.

We plan to release CatchMe on February, 2016. It will be available in English and French on Android Market and in App Store as a second step. CatchMe will be free for 1 year.

CatchMe app is developed by OBreach, a group of two persons created in 2015. When others innovate, OBreach invents!

His story begins with two pillars: Keep cool and Never angry.
